For U.S. Congress Arkansas District 3

Working Class Poor

Another way to state this is: TAXES

We pay too much and the really, really wealthy have been paying too little for many, many years. That has left us way behind.

We see it in our 401(k)s, that now, thanks to the tariff debacle, are even lower than before.

We see it at the grocery store when every time we go to shop something else gets more expensive. And that will get worse as well with tariffs.

We see it no matter what we shop for, or where we shop. We are not talking about fancy stuff, just normal stuff that breaks and needs replacing.

In all of my years of campaigning for political office, I have been fighting for the middle class and for the economically disadvantaged. My friends, that group of people is getting larger. And in this district in Arkansas, that number is getting larger, according to the UnitedWay ALICE report. This report looks at people who are working full-time but who are barely squeaking by every month. That number should be going down and I have a plan to make it go down.

How?

Well, federal income and other taxes that make sense, that's how! Taxes that benefit the middle-class not the 1%. That money has supposed to have been trickling down since Ronald Reagan was President. Have you seen it anywhere in your pocket? I haven't.

Jobs have been off-shoring just like they did in the 1970's. The number of billionaires has been increasing since Ronald Reagan's time at the expense of the 99%. It is time to say: "Stop!"

I am developing a new tax plan that I intend to unveil in the coming months.
